2026 EMAIL CAMPAIGN STRATEGY

DANIELLE GIBSON MORTGAGES · YOUR HOMETOWN MORTGAGE GIRL

Service: Social + Email · Tone: Like a letter from someone you trust

EMAIL PHILOSOPHY

Social plants the story. Email tells it fully.

Danielle's emails are not newsletters. They're letters. Each one reads like it came from a person who genuinely cares about the reader, because it did.

No sales funnels. No urgency language. No "rates are dropping, act now." Just warmth, honesty, and a real story that makes the reader feel something.

Subject lines are personal, not clickbait. Sign-offs are real. Every send is signed by Danielle.

CAMPAIGN TYPES — FIVE WAYS DANIELLE SHOWS UP

Five distinct campaign types, each with a defined purpose and rhythm. Giveback Deep Dives anchor the year. Champagne & Closings stories deepen what social celebrates. Seasonal campaigns mark the year's turning points. Milestone emails fire when impact crosses a threshold. BoC emails appear only when a real client conversation calls for one.

0 1 THE SIGNATURE EMAIL

Giveback Deep Dives

Monthly send · the post that defines the year

Social teases the giving story. Email tells it fully. This is the email that makes people forward it to a friend and say "you need to meet my mortgage broker."

STRUCTURE

1. Open with the organization. Who they are, what they do, why they matter.
2. The connection. Why this client chose this organization, or why Danielle did.
3. The impact. What the contribution actually funds. Specific, tangible, real.
4. Cumulative total. The running number, updated and celebrated.
5. Invitation. A direct link for the reader to support the same organization if they want to.
6. Close. Warm sign-off from Danielle.

Tone: the email that makes people forward it.

SUBJECT LINE EXAMPLES

"This month, we helped 12 kids in Scarborough"

"The running total just hit something I never expected"

"$[X] and counting. Here's where it went."

0 2 STORY EMAIL

Champagne & Closings Stories

Bi-monthly send · the narrative deepens what social celebrates

Social celebrates the moment. Email opens with the full journey, beginning to closing, including the obstacle and the turning point. The reader finishes and thinks "I want someone to care about my situation like that."

STRUCTURE

1. The client's story from the beginning. What they were feeling when they first called.
2. The obstacle. Credit, fear, life transition, separation.
3. The turning point. The conversation that changed everything.
4. The closing. The real moment, the champagne, the feeling.
5. The pivot. "Here's what's possible for you." Not a hard sell. An open door.
6. Danielle's contact info + The Possibility Conversation CTA.

SCHEDULE

Every other month. February, April, June, August, October, December.

SUBJECT LINE EXAMPLES

"They were told no twice before they called me"

"She apologized for her credit score before she even said hello"

"The conversation that changed everything for this family"

03 CALENDAR-DRIVEN

Seasonal Campaigns

Three seasonal sends · each tied to giveback and care philosophy

Three seasonal campaigns mark the turning points of the year. Each ties back to the giveback mission and the care philosophy. Each opens a door, never pushes through one.

SPRING · MARCH

A

The Possibility Conversation

New beginnings, first-time buyers, the conversation before the application

CONTENT

- Danielle's approach to the first call. What she actually asks, how she listens.
- Real stories of clients who thought homeownership wasn't possible.
- The giveback angle. "When you close with me, something good happens beyond your front door."

CTA

Book a possibility conversation. No pressure, no judgment.

BACK TO SCHOOL · SEPTEMBER

B

A Place to Call Home

Families settling in, the emotional weight of having your own place

CONTENT

- Stories of families who closed before fall. What that first September felt like.
- The nursing parallel. "The best care starts with feeling safe."
- Giveback year-to-date. What the community has built together.

CTA

"If you've been thinking about it, let's have the conversation."

YEAR-END · DECEMBER

C

What We Built Together

Annual giveback summary + holiday warmth

CONTENT

- The full year in review. Every organization, total raised, what it represented.
- One powerful client story that captures the year.
- Gratitude. For clients, for community, for the chance to do this work.
- A look ahead. "2027 is going to matter. Let's make it count."

CTA

Soft, referral-oriented. "Know someone who needs to hear this?"

0 4 TRIGGERED

Milestone Emails

Fired by impact, not by calendar

These emails fire when the cumulative giveback total crosses a threshold. Not on a schedule. On impact.

$10K

FIRST MAJOR THRESHOLD

Personal, emotional. The journey, the organizations, the clients. Include a link to support the latest recipient.

"We just hit $10,000"

$25K

A QUARTER OF THE WAY

Bigger story. The realization that this model works. Feature 2-3 organizations. Reader invitation to share.

"I need to tell you something"

$50K

LEGACY EMAIL

"This started as a promise. Now it's proof." Full recap. This one should make people cry.

"This number means more than I can explain"

0 5 SELECTIVE

Bank of Canada Response Emails

Only when the announcement meaningfully impacts Danielle's clients

Not every BoC announcement gets an email. Only when Danielle can frame it through a real client conversation. The default is silence. That protects the brand from feeling like every other broker's send.

STRUCTURE

1. Open with a real conversation. "A client called me this morning and asked..."
2. Danielle's honest, plain-language take. No charts, no jargon.
3. What it actually means for the reader's situation.
4. CTA. "If you're wondering what this means for you, that's exactly the conversation I'm here for."

THE RULE

When in doubt, don't send.

SUBJECT LINE EXAMPLES

"A client asked me what today's announcement means for her"

"Here's what I'm telling my clients today"

PLUS TRIGGERED SENDS

Milestone emails fire when the cumulative giveback total crosses a threshold. BoC emails fire selectively, only when there's a real conversation worth sharing.

WHAT DANIELLE'S EMAILS NEVER DO

The discipline of what to exclude defines the warmth.

Every restriction below protects the trust that makes the email list work in the first place.

OFF-BRAND FOR DANIELLE'S INBOX

- ✗ Use urgency or scarcity language
- ✗ Lead with rates or market data
- ✗ Sound like a newsletter template
- ✗ Include generic mortgage tips
- ✗ Feel like they came from a marketing department
- ✗ Treat the giveback as a sidebar. It's always the lead story.

THE FILTER

Before any email sends, the question is the same. Does this sound like Danielle wrote it to a real person she cared about, or could any broker's marketing department have sent it? If it's the second one, it doesn't go.
