CAMPAIGN PHILOSOPHY

The smartest thing in your inbox that week.

Kevin's email lands twice a month. One topic. British clarity. Dry wit where it earns its place, never where it doesn't. The kind of email a referral partner forwards to a client, an adult child forwards to a parent, and a newcomer saves for later.

It is not a market summary. It is not a newsletter. It is a letter from a sensible person who happens to know mortgages cold. The structure stays the same every send. The voice does the rest of the work.

Let me explain this as if I'm talking to a sensible person.

CADENCE	SEND DAYS	VOICE	CTA
Twice Monthly	1st & 15th	British wit, dry clarity	Phone or website

From: Kevin Byworth, Premiere Mortgage Centre

Audience: Referral partners (financial advisors, settlement agencies, immigration lawyers), 55+ homeowners and adult children, newcomers to Canada, past clients.

CTA rotation: Phone (416-319-2457) or website (kevinbyworth.ca). One per email. Never both in the same send.

BoC protocol: When the Bank of Canada announces near a send date, the calm Kevin explainer goes out within 24 hours. Never more than three emails in a month.

THE FORMAT

Six parts. Every time.

The same skeleton on every send. The voice carries the content. The structure earns the trust. Two hundred to three hundred words. Respectful of the reader's time. Every sentence says something.

01 · SUBJECT	Understated, clever, specific. Six to eight words. Kevin's voice shows up in the subject itself. No emoji. No "Monthly Update."
02 · OPENING	One sentence that reframes. The dry observation that earns the scroll. Never "Hi {{first_name}}", hope you're well."
03 · THE INSIGHT	200 to 300 words. One topic, genuine expertise. GTA scenarios at $650K to $800K where relevant. The thing nobody else in their inbox is saying.
04 · THE KEVIN ANGLE	What Kevin brings. Reverse mortgage depth, newcomer experience, life insurance cross-sell, or simply the British perspective. The reason this email could only have come from Kevin.
05 · CTA	One action. Phone or website. Rotated across the campaign. Never both in the same send.
06 · SIGN-OFF	"— Kevin" followed by the Premiere footer. Clean. British spellings throughout (realise, colour, favour, centre). Naturally.

Sample Subject Lines

- "Reverse mortgages, explained for sensible people"
- "The rate decision, without the hysteria"
- "Moving to Canada? Here's what nobody tells you."

WHAT THESE EMAILS NEVER DO

The guardrails. Strict.

The list of things these emails refuse to do is as important as what they do.

- Sound breathless, alarmist, or like the GTA mortgage content Kevin is the antidote to.
- Force the British wit. If a line isn't naturally funny, it doesn't get the wit angle.
- Sell fear on life insurance content. Kevin sells clarity. The tone difference is the whole product.
- Talk down to seniors or their adult children on reverse mortgage sends.
- Use emoji in subject lines.
- Include more than one CTA in a single email.
- Reference #PremiereMortgage. Always #ChoosePremiere when hashtags appear.
- Use American spelling. British spellings throughout: realise, colour, favour, honour, centre.
- Feel templated. Every email reads like Kevin sat down and wrote it for this audience, this week, this idea.

Does this sound like a sensible person explaining something?

Co-ordination With Social

Email complements but never duplicates the Kevin & Felicia weekly social series. The reverse mortgage posts on Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn, and Google build awareness. The email goes deeper on one scenario per send. Felicia and HEB approval window is five business days. Build that into every K & F send. BoC bonus emails can ship within 24 hours of a major announcement, but never push the monthly total past three.
