THE YEAR AT A GLANCE

Seven months. One Atlantic voice.

Three platforms working together. LinkedIn is the credibility engine. Facebook is the Atlantic reach. Instagram is the visual authority. Every post passes The Filter before it goes up.

THE FILTER

Does this require 36 years of banking experience to write? If any broker could post it, the institutional layer goes on, or it doesn't go up.

From the Other Side · Monthly Series

Monthly long-form post on LinkedIn (adapted for Facebook). The signature series that draws on Tracy's banking career to give clients information they would never get from a bank.

June	"What your bank's underwriting team actually looks at when they see your file. And it's not just your credit score."
July	"I sat in countless internal meetings about renewal strategy. Here's why the rate your bank offers at renewal is not their best rate."
August	"Banks train their staff on objection handling. Here's what they're trained to say when you push back. And what to say next."
September	"The difference between how a bank prices risk versus how a broker prices it. I've been on both sides."
October	"What happens inside a bank when your mortgage application is flagged. I used to be the one reviewing those flags."
November	"Why December is the month banks quietly approve deals they wouldn't touch in March. Institutional year-end behaviour, explained."
December	"The one conversation I wish every client had with their banker before signing a renewal. And what the bank hopes you never ask."
