2026 ANNUAL CONTENT PLAN

DANIELLE GIBSON MORTGAGES · YOUR HOMETOWN MORTGAGE GIRL

Market: Toronto and the GTA · Platforms: Instagram (primary), pushed to Facebook · Voice: Personal, empathy-led, cause-driven, nursing background

BUILT ON THE STRATEGY

The annual plan turns Danielle's four-story rotation into a year of warmth, celebration, and impact.

The giveback leads. Champagne & Closings celebrates. Nursing philosophy grounds. Personal stories deepen. BoC posts only land when Danielle can frame them through a real client conversation. The result is a year of content that feels like it came from a person who cares, because it did.

THE FOUR-STORY ROTATION

The same rotation runs every month. Each week carries a distinct story. The audience learns the rhythm. Celebration first, giveback second, philosophy third, personal narrative fourth.

WEEK 1

Champagne & Closings

The celebration moment.
Real client, real story,
Instagram primary.

WEEK 2

Giveback Update

The organization, the impact story, the running total.

WEEK 3

Nursing / Care

The "why behind the work." Grounded, never gimmicky.

WEEK 4

Personal Story

Long-form on Facebook.
Narrative that builds the brand voice.

Champagne & Closings. Instagram primary, mirrored to Facebook. High-quality single image or short Reel. Short caption that tells one true thing about that client's journey. The test: if any broker could have written it about any client, it doesn't go.

M O N T H B Y M O N T H — 2 0 2 6

Each month's topic stack, locked to the four-story rotation. BoC weeks appear highlighted. They're optional, family-lens only, and skipping is fine when it doesn't serve the brand.

June "The giveback starts here"

WEEK	TYPE	TOPIC
Week 1	Champagne	First closing of summer. The couple who almost didn't call. One true detail from their journey.
Week 2	Giveback	June's organization. Who they are, why Danielle chose them, what the contribution means in real terms. Running total update.
BoC Jun 10	BoC (optional)	If posted: "A couple asked me last week if they should wait. Here's what I told them." No rate charts. Family lens.
Week 3	Nursing	"In nursing, we called it person-centred care. In mortgages, I call it actually listening." The origin story.
Week 4	Personal	Father's Day week. A grounded personal post about the conversations that matter. Not a mortgage post. A people post (— Danielle).

July "Celebration season"

WEEK	TYPE	TOPIC
Week 1	Champagne	Summer closing. The client who got the keys right before the long weekend. The champagne moment.
Week 2	Giveback	July's organization + cumulative total. The story of what the money actually does. Specific, not abstract.
BoC Jul 15	BoC (optional)	If posted: "What this means for the family who asked me if now is the right time." Skip if it doesn't serve the brand.
Week 3	Nursing	"I used to hold hands in difficult moments. I still do. The conversations are just different now." The patience parallel.
Week 4	Personal	Long-form FB. A client who came to Danielle feeling embarrassed about their credit. The full arc, first nervous call to closing.

August "Quiet strength"

WEEK	TYPE	TOPIC
Week 1	Champagne	End-of-summer closing. The client who started in spring and closed in the heat of August.
Week 2	Giveback	August organization + running total. If approaching a milestone ($10K, $25K), tease it.
Week 3	Nursing	The parallel between triage and first consultations. Both are about listening before acting. The first phone call.
Week 4	Personal	Back-to-school week. Families settling into new homes. The feeling of a first September in a place that's yours (— Danielle).

September "New beginnings"

WEEK	TYPE	TOPIC
BoC Sep 2	BoC (optional)	If posted: framed through a real conversation. "She asked me if the rate change means she missed her window. Here's what I said."
Week 1	Champagne	Fall closing. The specificity of this one. What made it Danielle's story to tell.
Week 2	Giveback	September organization. If a milestone lands, this becomes a milestone post with real emotion.
Week 3	Nursing	"Some people apologize before they even tell me their situation. The apology is never necessary." Normalizing vulnerability in financial conversations.
Week 4	Personal	Truth & Reconciliation (Sep 30). Respectful acknowledgment. No branded content. Community post.

October "Gratitude month"

WEEK	TYPE	TOPIC
Week 1	Champagne	Fall closing celebration. Specificity. What was different about this one.
Week 2	Giveback	October organization + cumulative total. Thanksgiving overlap. Gratitude for the clients who make the giveback possible.
Week 3	Nursing	"The best thing I learned in nursing wasn't medical. It was how to sit with someone in an uncomfortable moment and not rush them."
BoC Oct 28	BoC (optional)	If posted: "A client texted me this morning asking what the announcement means for their renewal. Here's the honest answer."
Week 4	Personal	Thanksgiving week. Gratitude post. What Danielle is thankful for this year. Community, clients, the mission (— Danielle).

November "The why behind the work"

WEEK	TYPE	TOPIC
Week 1	Champagne	Late-fall closing. The client who thought it wouldn't happen before year-end.
Week 2	Giveback	November organization. Begin building toward the year-end summary. "Here's what we've built together this year."
Week 3	Nursing	"People ask me why I left nursing. I didn't leave. I just found a different way to take care of people." The deepest version of this content.
Week 4	Personal	Remembrance Day week. Respectful, personal. Not a mortgage post (— Danielle).

December "Year of impact"

WEEK	TYPE	TOPIC
Week 1	Champagne	Final closing of 2026. The bookend to the year.
BoC Dec 9	BoC (optional)	If posted: year-end framing through a client conversation. Minimal. Skip if it doesn't add.
Week 2	Giveback Year-End	The big one. Annual recap. Every organization supported, total amount raised, what it represented. Real emotion. The post that defines the year.
Week 3	Personal	Holiday message. Warmth, gratitude, community. What this year meant to Danielle (— Danielle).

BANK OF CANADA — A SELECTIVE PRESENCE

Through a family lens, never through a rate chart. Never jargon, never analysis. If Danielle wouldn't say it at a kitchen table, it doesn't get posted.

DATE	APPROACH
Jun 10	Optional. Family lens. "What I told the couple who asked me last week."
Jul 15	Optional. Skip if it doesn't serve the brand. One post maximum.
Sep 2	Optional. Real conversation framing. A client's actual question, Danielle's honest answer.
Oct 28	Optional. Renewal-focused. A real client's text or call that morning.
Dec 9	Optional. Year-end reflection if it fits. Skip is fine.

When the number crosses a threshold, that milestone gets its own moment.

The cumulative total is tracked continuously. Each threshold gets a dedicated post with real emotion, not just a number.

$10K

FIRST THRESHOLD

Real emotion. The journey to get here. What it represents.

$25K

MAJOR MOMENT

The organizations supported. The clients who made it possible. The ripple effect.

$50K

LEGACY

Campaign-level content. The full story, every organization, every client journey.

EOY

YEAR-END

Every organization, total raised, what it meant. The post that defines 2026.

Holidays that warrant a personal touch get one. Danielle skips what doesn't fit. The personal posts always come signed.

DATE	MOMENT	APPROACH
Jun 21	Father's Day	PERSONAL. About conversations, not mortgages (— Danielle).
Jul 1	Canada Day	LIGHT. Brief community acknowledgment.
Sep 1	Labour Day	SKIP.
Sep 30	Truth & Reconciliation	RESPECTFUL. Acknowledgment, no branded content.
Oct 13	Thanksgiving	PERSONAL. Gratitude. Woven into the giveback update that week.
Nov 11	Remembrance Day	RESPECTFUL. Personal (— Danielle).
Dec 25	Christmas	PERSONAL. Holiday message. Warmth, community, year reflection (— Danielle).

WHAT THIS PLAN AVOIDS

What Danielle doesn't post is as important as what she does.

The decisions about what not to post are as important as the plan itself. Anything in this list pulls Danielle's brand away from the warmth that is its entire foundation.

OFF-BRAND FOR DANIELLE

- ✗ Rate comparison graphics or "lowest rate" language
- ✗ Corporate-sounding captions
- ✗ Generic homebuyer tips that any broker could post
- ✗ Giveback mentions that feel performative or tacked on. The giveback leads, always.
- ✗ Anything that distances Danielle from the warmth that is the entire brand
- ✗ BoC analysis, charts, or jargon

THE FILTER

Before any post goes out, the question is the same. Does this sound like Danielle wrote it about a real person she cared about, or could any broker have posted it? If it's the second one, it doesn't go.
