JENNIFER MACLENNAN MORTGAGES · PREMIERE MORTGAGE CENTRE · NOVA SCOTIA

Market: Nova Scotia · Platforms: Facebook (primary), Instagram · Voice: Personal, warm, community-rooted

POSITIONING

Jennifer is not the broker who leads with credentials. She is the person in your community who happens to know mortgages better than anyone.

The one you call because you already trust her, not because you found her in a Google search. Her content strategy reflects this: relationship first, transaction never. People who follow Jennifer should feel like they know her before they ever DM her.

*Your neighbour.
Your mortgage broker.
Your biggest advocate.*

— THE LINE

The shift. The authority brokers in this portfolio earn trust through expertise. Jennifer earns trust through presence. Both work, but they require completely different content strategies.

A deliberate shift
from the standard mortgage mix.
Authority is minimized. Presence leads.

PILLAR	SHARE	RATIONALE
Personal & Community	40%	Her primary differentiator. Authenticity is the brand.
Education (Plain Language)	30%	Still needs to demonstrate competence, but in approachable, human terms.
Social Proof & Referral	20%	Warm testimonial-style wins. "Jennifer helped my whole family."
Local NS Life	10%	Visual, seasonal, place-rooted. Makes the feed feel alive.

The Community Mortgage. The thread running through Jennifer's content. Homeownership is how families plant roots in communities. Jennifer understands both sides. She has done the mortgages and she is also at the hockey rink and the volunteer table with those same families.

F A C E B O O K . P R I M A R Y

Where Jennifer's community actually lives.

Longer posts are appropriate here. The format should feel like something a trusted friend wrote, not a marketing department. Six to eight posts per month. Engagement over reach. Comments over impressions.

POST TYPES THAT WORK

- Warm story posts. "A client called me last week..." Anonymized but specific.
- Community news shares with her personal commentary added.
- Honest takes on what buying a home is really like emotionally, not just financially.
- Hockey and volunteer posts with natural mentions of her work.
- "What I wish someone had told me" posts about the mortgage process. Conversational, not listicle.

I N S T A G R A M . S E C O N D A R Y

Visual warmth, not education graphics.

No rate comparison carousels. No "Did you know?" templates. Instagram for Jennifer is the human side of her brand. Five to six posts per month.

- NS seasonal photography. Fall colours, harbour shots, winter hockey rink.
- Behind-the-scenes. Her life as a volunteer, a mom, a member of her community.
- Simple warm single-image posts with short, personal captions.
- Milestone moments. "Another family just got their keys" with a brief warm caption.
- Occasional Reels. Candid, not produced. Her voice matters more than polish.

H O C K E Y + V O L U N T E E R C O N T E N T

Two posts a month, minimum. Not manufactured authenticity. It is who Jennifer actually is.

The reason her network trusts her. Natural integration, not forced tie-ins. A post about a hockey tournament she volunteered at does not need a mortgage call-to-action. The audience already knows what she does. Showing up as a full person is the marketing.

The soft bridge. "Between shifts at the tournament this weekend, three people asked me about the rate cut. So here is what I told them." That is the right tone. Earned, not manufactured.

B O C R E A C T I O N A P P R O A C H

Family-budget language, not industry language.

When the Bank of Canada moves, Jennifer translates it into family-budget language. Not "25 basis points will impact variable rate holders." Instead:

"If you are on a variable rate mortgage and you have been watching your monthly payment, here is what this week's announcement means for your actual number."

No jargon. No hedging. No charts. Just the answer a family member would give you at the kitchen table.

T H E C O M M U N I T Y M O R T G A G E

The franchise running through every month of 2026.

Homeownership is not just a financial transaction. It is how families plant roots in communities. Jennifer understands both sides of that. She has done the mortgages and she is also at the hockey rink and the volunteer table with those same families.

This theme surfaces once or twice a month in a more explicit way: a post that connects the work she does to the community she loves. The rest of the month, it is the undercurrent rather than the headline.

M O N T H L Y R H Y T H M

Twelve posts a month. Two platforms.

FACEBOOK

Primary platform

Seven posts per month. Longer-form, warm, community-rooted. The format should feel like something a trusted friend wrote.

INSTAGRAM

Secondary platform

Five posts per month. Visual warmth, behind-the-scenes, NS seasonal, milestone moments. Short, personal captions.

WHAT THIS AVOIDS

A clear filter for what stays out. This is what Jennifer does not do.

- × No authority posturing. No "With my years of expertise..."
- × No finance industry jargon.
- × No corporate tone or formal templated graphics.
- × No LinkedIn-style professional content adapted for Facebook. It will feel wrong.
- × No over-produced content. Jennifer's brand is real, not polished.
- × No competitive positioning against other brokers.
- × Never make the content about the transaction first.

THE FILTER

Before posting, ask:

Would this make a neighbour feel like they know her better?

If yes, post it. If no, rework it.

THE CORE DIFFERENTIATOR

Every other mortgage broker in Jennifer's market leads with what they know. Jennifer leads with who she is. In a category where trust is the actual product, that is not a soft strategy. It is a precise one.

Your neighbour.
Your mortgage broker.
Your biggest advocate.
