WARM • KNOWLEDGEABLE • HUMAN

The most approachable mortgage broker in Toronto.

Lesley Tenaglia is a full-service mortgage broker at Fuse Mortgage, serving the Greater Toronto Area. Eight plus years in the industry, with a background in hospitality and bookkeeping, give her a rare mix of financial precision and genuine warmth in every client interaction.

Her book is overwhelmingly conventional. Millennial professionals (lawyers, people in finance, artists) make up her core, split roughly 50/50 between first-time buyers and renewals or refinances. Self-employed clients are about 15% of her business and growing. Referrals come from realtors and past clients.

Her strength is not a niche. It is the way she makes people feel during the biggest financial decision of their lives.

THE LINE

"Behind every question is someone trying to make a really big decision, and they are trusting me to help them make sense of it."

Warm. Knowledgeable. Human.

Lesley sounds like the most knowledgeable friend you have, the one who happens to know everything about mortgages. She leads with trust and relationships. The expertise is always underneath, but the entry point is always human.

IN HER OWN WORDS

"I am pretty casual but professional. I love to talk about the ins and outs of mortgages. I easily laugh at myself. I am not a corporate type. I am a bit woo woo."

VOICE CHARACTERISTICS

- Leads with a relatable moment or personal hook, not a product or a number.
- Uses "you" and "your" often.
- Self-deprecating humour when it fits, never forced.
- Honest about uncertainty. She will not promise outcomes.
- Rarely uses jargon, and when she does, she explains it in plain language.
- One clear call to action per piece, never multiple asks.
- Warm trusted advisor. Not texting a friend, not a boardroom presentation.

What belongs in a post. What belongs in a conversation.

Lesley keeps a clear line between what belongs in a post and what belongs in a private conversation.

POSTS ARE FOR

Connection, trust, relatability, education in broad strokes, personality, humour, and showing she understands the human side of big decisions.

CONVERSATIONS ARE FOR

Specific rate comparisons, basis point math, dollar-over-lifetime impact numbers, and detailed file breakdowns.

"That is a conversation, not for a post."

WHAT WE NEVER SAY

- ✗ "B-lender" or "alternative lender" as a positioning angle.
- ✗ "Bad credit" or "bruised credit" as a content focus.
- ✗ "When the bank says no" framing.
- ✗ "Accountant" (she was a bookkeeper, not an accountant).
- ✗ "Mortgage Agent" (always "Mortgage Broker").
- ✗ Any Premiere branding or #ChoosePremiere.
- ✗ Specific rate or dollar comparisons in social posts.
- ✗ Anything corporate, stiff, salesy, or generic.

Four audiences. One through-line.

PRIMARY

Conventional Buyers & Renewals

First-time buyers, renewals, refinances, and move-up buyers across the GTA. Millennial professionals who feel overwhelmed, anxious about rates, and want someone who explains things clearly.

They need: clarity, patience, and a broker who works for them, not a bank.

SECONDARY

Self-Employed & Non-Traditional Income

Business owners, freelancers, and gig workers whose income does not fit the standard box. Lesley knows how to present their income correctly and match them with the right lenders.

SUPPORTING

Referral Partners

Realtors, financial planners, and lawyers who send clients to Lesley. Content reinforces why they refer to her: responsiveness, thoroughness, and a process that makes their clients feel cared for.

GROWTH AREA

Co-Buying

More people are pooling resources to enter the market: friends, siblings, parents and adult children. Lesley wants to be known for co-buying education. This is a signature topic.

Three pillars, weighted.

01 MORTGAGE EDUCATION & BUYER GUIDANCE

60%

The foundation. Serves her existing book and the realtors who send her clients: first-time buyer education, renewal strategy (featuring Shameeza), co-buying, self-employed scenarios, mortgage math and process clarity, the "Three questions I answer every week" series, and what to expect at each stage.

02 MARKET NEWS & BOC REACTIONS

20%

Keeping her network informed and reinforcing expertise: Bank of Canada decisions through a practical lens, what rate changes mean for buyers and renewals, GTA market updates, and content that makes Lesley the broker realtors think of first.

03 PERSONAL BRAND & COMMUNITY

20%

The human side that makes people remember her: sports mom life (volleyball, football with Scarboro Thunder), Red Cross volunteering, dog content (she asked for it), team content with Shameeza, self-deprecating humour, and seasonal moments.

Four channels. One voice.

FACEBOOK

Role. Referral partner reach and longer educational content.

Full captions, community credibility with Toronto broker and realtor networks. Max 4 hashtags. Phone or email CTA is fine.

INSTAGRAM

Role. Brand personality, education, visual-first.

Tightened captions, strong visual identity. 8 to 12 hashtags (broad, niche, location). Warm, bright, approachable: amber accent, warm grey, DM Serif headlines.

GOOGLE BUSINESS

Role. Local SEO and credibility.

Short CTA posts, 2 to 3 sentences. Targets "mortgage broker Toronto," "first-time buyer Toronto," "mortgage renewal Toronto." No hashtags.

EMAIL

Role. Deeper education and relationship nurturing.

Past clients and referral partners, never mixed in one send. The Fuse Brief newsletter, topical campaigns, and BoC reactions. Voice: the practitioner letter.

Three posts a week. One rhythm.

DAY	PILLAR	EXAMPLE TOPICS
Monday	Education / Guidance	"What to expect at your first mortgage meeting." "5 things that can slow down your approval."
Wednesday	Market / Referral	BoC reactions, rate context, "What your realtor wants you to know before you start house hunting."
Friday	Personal / Community	Red Cross updates, sports mom life, client wins, team spotlight.

MESSAGING FRAMEWORK

North star. Lesley Tenaglia: the mortgage broker who makes it make sense. Not a tagline to use verbatim, a direction for all content.

THE VALUE SHE HAS OVER BANKS (NEVER RATE)

- Service. She walks clients through every step. Banks process files.
- Product breadth. Access to dozens of lenders versus one bank's products.
- Advocacy. She works for the client. Bank employees work for the bank.
- The right questions. Lesley has a list of questions every client should ask their bank before signing a renewal. This is a content asset.

Visual identity, team, and the rules.
