THE PRACTITIONER LETTER

LESLEY TENAGLIA · FUSE MORTGAGE · TORONTO / GTA

Platform: GoHighLevel · From: Lesley Tenaglia, Mortgage Broker · Audience: past clients, active leads, referral partners

Practitioner letters, not market updates.

Lesley's emails are practitioner letters: direct, specific, and useful. Every email should feel like it came from someone who knows what she is talking about and cares about the person reading it.

No fluff. No filler. No generic "market update" energy. Every email earns the open by delivering something the reader can use or think about differently.

CORE RULES

- One audience per email. Clients or referral partners, never both in one send.
- One clear purpose per email. Education, reaction, or relationship. Pick one.
- Lesley's voice throughout. Warm, knowledgeable, human. The reader should hear her.
- No rate promises. She explains what is happening and what it means.
- No specialist framing. Lesley is a full-service mortgage broker.
- Value versus banks is service and breadth, not rate. She highlights service gaps, not a lower number.

OPENER & SIGN-OFF

Opener: "Hi {{first_name}}, I hope you are well." Sign-off: "Kind regards, Lesley." Personal "Lesley" on opinion or story-driven emails.

The Fuse Brief and the topical campaign.

TYPE 01 · MONTHLY NEWSLETTER

The Fuse Brief

Keeps Lesley top of mind with a monthly read on rates, market signals, and what matters. Full list, flexible (can skip months with nothing worth saying).

Structure. Rate snapshot, what is shifting (plain-language take), this month's focus, a "You Asked" client question, a warm personal note, and a single CTA.

TYPE 02 · TOPICAL CAMPAIGN

Single-Topic Deep Dive

Educational, not promotional. 1 to 2 per month, segmented by topic relevance (first-time buyers, renewals, self-employed, co-buyers).

Structure. Topic label, a reader-first headline, a warm personal opening, 2 to 3 key points in highlighted blocks, one takeaway, and a soft CTA.

The topics that earn the forward.

TOPIC	AUDIENCE	ANGLE
Co-Buying Guide	All	Two names on one mortgage. Who qualifies, what if one wants out, does it help affordability.
Renewal Reality Check	Renewals	What your renewal letter is not telling you. Shameeza spotlight.
Self-Employed Guide	Self-employed	Your income is real. What lenders need, how to prepare.
First-Time Buyer Guide	First-time	Everything you need to know. Process, programs, expectations.
Spring Buyer's Prep	Buyers	Getting ready for the spring market. What to have ready.
Referral Partner Value	Partners	What happens after you send a client to me.
Questions Your Bank Won't Answer	Renewals	The questions to ask before signing a renewal.
Year-End Planning	All	What to do before December if buying or renewing.
Year-End Thank You	All	A personal note. Gratitude and what is ahead.

TYPE 03 · BOC REACTION

When the rate lands

Immediate, practical reaction sent within 24 hours. Decision banner (hold, cut, or hike), what happened in plain language, what it means for buyers and renewals, what Lesley is telling her clients, and one CTA: "If this affects your situation, let's talk."

Eight rate dates. One introduction.

2026 BOC SCHEDULE

DATE	NOTES	DATE	NOTES
Jan 29	Complete	Jul 15	Hold + cut ready
Mar 12	Complete	Sep 3	Planned
Apr 16	Complete	Oct 29	Planned
Jun 4	Complete	Dec 10	Planned

TYPE 04 · MEET THE TEAM

Introducing Shameeza

Builds trust in the team behind Lesley. Who Shameeza is and what she does, why Lesley has a renewal specialist, and what clients can expect when they work with her. Sent 1 to 2 times a year to the full client list.

Close. "Your renewal is in good hands."

Clean, minimal, text-forward.

TEMPLATE ANATOMY

- Header. Fuse masthead with bracket motif, "Lesley Tenaglia, Mortgage Broker," and an amber top bar.
- Hero (dark). Topic label in amber caps, DM Serif headline in white. This is where the email earns the scroll.
- Body (warm white). Inter body. Question and highlight blocks use an amber left border on light amber. Generous spacing.
- CTA. Amber button, dark text, uppercase. One per email.
- Footer (dark). Name, licences, contact, and an amber unsubscribe link.

RESPONSIVE

Every template is mobile-first: single column on mobile, hero text scales gracefully, padding adjusts, buttons stay tappable, and rate cards stack vertically.

Who gets what, and when.

SEGMENT	RECEIVES
Full List	The Fuse Brief, BoC reactions, year-end thank you.
First-Time Buyers	Buyer guides, spring prep, co-buying.
Renewals	Renewal campaigns, Shameeza content, bank questions.
Self-Employed	Self-employed guides and updates.
Referral Partners	Partner value emails only. Never client-focused content.

SENDING

From: Lesley Tenaglia. Send time: Tuesday or Wednesday, 9 to 10 AM ET (test and optimize). BoC reactions within 24 hours, any day. Cap: 2 emails per week (excluding BoC). Clear unsubscribe on every send.

METRICS

Open rate 35% plus. Click rate 5% plus (one clear CTA). Unsubscribe under 0.5%. Track replies as engagement and lead signal.

What Lesley's emails never do.

- ✗ Mix client and referral partner content in the same send.
- ✗ Promise rate direction or guaranteed outcomes.
- ✗ Use "B-lender," "bruised credit," or "when the bank says no" framing.
- ✗ Position Fuse as a specialist or niche brokerage.
- ✗ Claim to beat bank rates.
- ✗ Include multiple CTAs.
- ✗ Feel corporate, generic, or templated.
- ✗ Use Premiere branding or #ChoosePremiere.

SOCIAL AND EMAIL COORDINATION

Monthly themes align across channels. Social teases the topic through the week. Email delivers the full breakdown. BoC reactions run simultaneously on both. The newsletter references social, and social references the newsletter. Social builds familiarity, email builds depth.

Every email teaches the reader something they did not know before they opened it.
