2026 Content Strategy

AG Mortgage Team · Andrew Gad

Market: Toronto · Platforms: Facebook, Instagram, Google · Service: Social + Email

Voice: Authority · premium · white-glove · team brand

BRAND POSITIONING

AG Mortgage Team handles complexity so the client doesn't have to.

The team serves Toronto's sophisticated buyers — move-up purchasers in Rosedale, investors acquiring pre-construction in Yorkville, families upgrading from semis to detached in Leaside and Lawrence Park. The content standard must match the clientele. Every post signals expertise, precision, and partnership. Never lowest rate. Never discount framing.

CONTENT PILLARS — THE FIVE STORIES WE TELL

Five distinct content streams, each with a defined purpose and format. Together they build the team brand across every platform without repeating the same post in different words.

01 PILLAR ONE

White-Glove Process Transparency

White-glove isn't stock photography of handshakes. It's showing the work that lives behind a complex file. The content reveals the standard of care without violating any client confidentiality.

- "Here's what we reviewed before recommending this structure." Behind-the-scenes of a complex file (anonymized).
- "Three questions we ask every client before we start." Signals thoroughness.
- "What your bank didn't tell you about your renewal options."

FORMAT Carousels (IG and FB) and long-form FB posts

02

PILLAR TWO

Team Brand Content

The AG team is the differentiator. Monthly content featuring team members — their expertise, their specific roles, what they bring to a file. Team-first content builds trust beyond Andrew personally and signals scale and depth.

FORMAT Team spotlights, group shots at closings or events, short quotes from team members on complex scenarios

03

PILLAR THREE

Referral Partner Content

Realtors and financial advisors are on Facebook and Instagram. Content speaks to them directly without alienating the buyer audience. The framing is consistent: "this is why our clients' agents keep coming back."

- "We called the agent at 8pm when the deal looked like it wouldn't close. Here's what we did."
- "Three things the listing agent appreciated about how we structured this approval."
- "What to look for in a mortgage partner before your next deal."

FORMAT FB long-form post with IG short version

04

PILLAR FOUR

Toronto High-Value Market Content

Targeted buyer-type posts rotate through the following segments:

SEGMENT A Move-Up Buyers Leaside, Forest Hill, Beaches Bridge financing, how to buy before you sell, equity restructuring on the move.	SEGMENT B Investors GTA-wide Stress test realities for investment properties, pre-construction deposit structures.	SEGMENT C Pre-Construction Yorkville, downtown core Assignment clauses, extended close implications, rate hold strategy.

PILLAR FIVE

Bank of Canada — Sophisticated Take

When BoC moves, AG's commentary is for the client with a $1.5M property — not a first-time buyer. The angle is always strategic, never explanatory.

- Impact on variable/fixed split strategy for higher-value mortgages
- What a rate change means for refinancing equity at this price point
- Renewal strategy for clients who locked in at peak rates

FORMAT Reactive post on each BoC announcement · No generic rate explainers

SOCIAL + EMAIL COORDINATION

Social posts plant the question, email delivers the depth. Theme alignment across channels means every campaign reads as one strategy, not two parallel feeds.

JANUARY	Renewal Season SOCIAL teases the conversation around renewal timing and rate strategy. EMAIL delivers a personalized renewal audit invite.
MARCH	Spring Market Preparation SOCIAL builds excitement and positions AG as the team ahead of the rush. EMAIL is a move-up buyer guide tailored to the spring window.
SEPTEMBER	Fall Market + Q4 Planning SOCIAL reads as a market pulse — what's moving, what to watch. EMAIL delivers an investor strategy piece for the year-end window.

EMAIL TONE

Measured, premium, personal from Andrew. Not promotional. Every email reads like a note from a trusted advisor who happens to have the data, not a marketing send.

PLATFORM APPROACH — WHERE EACH STORY LIVES

Same strategy, three different platforms, three different cuts. Facebook does the heavy lifting on team and referral content. Instagram carries the premium visual. Google captures intent at the moment of search.

FACEBOOK

Referral network reach. Longer posts, team content, community credibility. The platform where realtors and advisors actually read.

INSTAGRAM

Premium aesthetic. High-quality imagery, short authority posts, Stories for market updates between feed posts.

GOOGLE

Local SEO posts. "Toronto mortgage specialist," neighbourhood-specific keywords, team credentials, Google Business Profile activity.

MONTHLY CONTENT ROTATION

Each week of the month carries a distinct content type so the feed feels intentional, not random. Across the month, the audience hears from authority, process, partner, and team — in that order.

Week	Content Type	Purpose
WEEK 1	Market / BoC Commentary	Authority. The sophisticated take on what's happening in rates and the market.
WEEK 2	Process Transparency	White-glove. A look at how the team handles a complex file (anonymized).
WEEK 3	Referral Partner Content	Partnership. Why agents and advisors keep referring to the AG team.
WEEK 4	Team Spotlight or Buyer-Type Post	Depth. The team behind the file, or the specific buyer audience for the month.

CADENCE DISCIPLINE

Consistency is the moat. Competitors post when they remember to. The AG team shows up on schedule across Facebook, Instagram, and Google, with coordinated themes pulling each platform in the same direction.

WHAT THIS STRATEGY AVOIDS

The decisions about what not to post are as important as the content plan itself. These are the things that would dilute the brand and confuse the audience.

OFF-BRAND FOR AG

- First-time buyer content or first-time home buyer program explanations
- Generic rate comparison graphics
- Informal tone, emoji-heavy captions, or casual language
- Anything that could have been posted by any broker in any market
- Discount language or "best rate" framing of any kind

2026 STRATEGY

The right mortgage for your situation.

Expertise. Precision. Partnership.
